Saddleback College Trustees Break Ground On New MissionViejo Campus

Saddleback College Board of Trustees turned the soil in ceremonies at historic Rancho Mission Viejo last Friday, May 24, to begin construction of the community college interim campus.

The $742,270 project will be located on 15 acres, east of San Diego Freeway, near Crown Valley parkway, in what is now the community of Mission Viejo.

Prominent educators representing the 329-square mile community college district were honored guests for the 2 p.m. ceremony.

They were Dr. Robert Peterson, superintendent of county schools; Robert Dahlberg, superintendent of Tustin Union High School District; Charles F. Kenney, superintendent of Capistrano Unified School District; and Dr. William L. Ullom, superintendent of Laguna Beach Unified School District.

"These notable officials represent the district-wide leadership that has contributed to the creation of Saddleback College," said Jack S. Roper, Saddleback College superintendent and president.

"It has been such leadership and continuous concern and support that have made it possible for the Board of Trustees and college staff to progress with such strides."

The new campus, scheduled for completion by September, consists of 13 buildings. There will be eight classrooms, a library, student center and book store, staff offices, administration building, and physical education facility.

More On El Toro Road Construction

CARL VENSTROM

We had a talk this week with an official from the County Roads on last week's editorial entitled "El Toro Road Overpass Costly and Not Needed." Apparently our local friends and informants did not have all of the information on the plans for the El Toro underpass.

According to this County Official — who wishes to remain unnamed — the road bed of El Toro Road will be moved further North which will allow the Lutheran Church and the Animal Hospital to remain untouched and intact. Whisler Drive will remain open to El Toro Road and no new interior roads will be constructed South of El Toro Road.

The State Public Utilities Commission will not allow the use of automatic gates at railroad crossings but insist upon overpasses and underpasses.

During the month of June the State Public Utilities Commission and the County of Orange will determine — at a public hearing — which of the two proposals, underpass or overpass, will be adopted.

Selection of an overpass or an underpass will not affect the Lutheran Church, the Animal Hospital, or Whisler Drive. These buildings and Whisler Drive — we are assured — will remain intact, regardless of whether there is to be an underpass or an overpass.

This newspaper will inform its readers of the time and place of this important meeting which affects the growth of our community. We will also present any new information we receive on this issue.

Emotionally Handicapped Child Panel Set At UP

The public is invited to attend an informative panel on "THE EDUCATIONALLY HANDICAPPED CHILD — WHO IS HE AND HOW DO WE HELP HIM?" at University Park School in Irvine.

The meeting, planned by interested parents in the San Joaquin Elementary district with the cooperation of District Superintendent Ralph Gates, will be in the multi-purpose room Monday, June 10, at 8:00 p.m.

Panelists will be Dr. Barbara Jessen, Neurologist on the staffs of Hoag, South Coast and Veterans' Hospitals, William H. Limebrook, Principal of Crown Valley School in Capistrano, which has a program for EH youngsters, Kathie Uschold, Speech and Language Specialist at Mardan School of Educational Therapy in Costa Mesa, Helen Mills, Clinical Social Worker affiliated with Children's Medical Group in Anaheim, and Byron Crider, Psychological Staff member for the Garden Grove district. Mel Packel, Principal of University Park School, will moderate. The audience will be invited to question the panel.

University Park School, which is near the University of California at Irvine, can be reached by driving to Culver Road and turning into University Park on Matthews Road. The school is located at Seton and Matthews. Call 833-0218 for further information.

Kiwanis See Trip Through Switzerland

"A Short Trip Through Switzerland" was the title of a speech given by Dr. Ted Witt, Mission Viejo dentist, to last week's regular Tuesday morning breakfast-meeting of the Kiwanis Club of Mission Viejo.

Witt showed colored slides of his recent six week trip and spent most of his time lecturing on the mountain and skiing areas of Switzerland.

Kiwanis member Jim Morrison introduced Witt to members of the service club.

Bill Wells, president of the local service club, announced that the "Key Club of Mission Viejo High School" was having a tree planting ceremony that day at the school. Two guests present at the breakfast were Jerry Hibbard's sons Tom and Dennis Hibbard, who are active members in the high school key club.

A Kiwanis education meeting is scheduled for tomorrow night at 7:30 p.m. in the Conference Room of the local high school. Vice President Jay Ingall will be conducting the program and will be assisted by Wells.

EDITORIAL: "Editorial Odds And Ends"

Many readers in our community have stopped us since the announcement in the RANCHO REPORTER two weeks ago of El Toro's first professional building. They thought this building was good for the community since we would have another desirable building in the area, have some much needed professional services available to our people and that we would have some tax revenue available — besides homes — at the local level.

This newspaper also feels that this professional building is a right step in developing our community. We hope that we will have more of them in the near future. More professional buildings and shops in our area will attract more residents to our area and will keep the local dollar home.

Other editorial odds and ends for this week would include congratulations to the residents of our area for their recent tax support to the SADDLEBACK JUNIOR COLLEGE DISTRICT which enabled the new college to break ground this week for immediate construction. Congratulations also go to the hard working board of trustees of SADDLEBACK JC and an effective college administration.

We also noticed this week that construction started for a new motel, located between El Toro Road and Paseo De Valencia.

This balance of building construction going on — in addition to home construction — is good evidence that we are in the midst of an area that has an undetermined future.

El Toro Summer Youth Program

Two separate youth programs are being offered in the El Toro area which is being spearheaded by the El Toro Homeowners Association.

The elementary age program for grades one through six and any interested 7th or 8th graders will be held at Olivewood and Gates schools. This program will begin June 24 and run through Aug. 16, Monday through Fri., from 1:00 to 5:00 p. m. Any interested parties can gain more information by calling Jess Frey, 837-8466.

The other program will be geared for the Teen's and dance committees are being formed at present.

First Double Eagle Dropped At MV Course

The first double eagle at the Mission Viejo Golf Club was scored Thursday, May 23, on the first hole, a 535-yard par 5. Art Sues, San Diego advertising executive, hit a driver and a 2 iron in accomplishing the feat. The 2 iron second shot hit the green at the front and rolled approximately 40 feet into the cup. Sues completed his round with a 75.

MINDY LEWIS and Nancy Gerrard can hardly wait for Summer and the many Y programs now available to MV and El Toro kids. Local counselor, Hugh Pierson, explains the YMCA summer program.

YMCA Plans Youth Summer Programs

This year's summer will be the best in several seasons for boys and girls in the Mission Viejo and El Toro communities, if the YMCA has anything to say about it.

Always eager to serve and help solidify new communities, the South Orange County YMCA, with its headquarters in Laguna, is extending its facilities to offer both boys and girls from the Mission Viejo and El Toro areas their regular summer programs.

The first of these programs, Day Camp, runs for two weeks, Monday through Friday, from nine a.m. to four p.m., for ages 6½ to 11. The first session, beginning June 17, serves children attending Summer School, while the remaining four sessions, July 1, July 15, July 29, and August 12, give almost every child ample opportunity to get in on the fun. Prices are $29 for local pick-up and $39 for home pick-up. Emphasis will be on small groups with trips to the various local fun spots like Disneyland, the beach, the mountains, etc.

Another program offered by the "Y" is Mountain Camp. Held at YMCA Camp Oakes near Big Bear. Mountain Camp operates the week before Summer School, June 23 through June 29, and is open to fifth, sixth, seventh, and eighth grade boys. The week includes bus transportation to and from the United California Bank in Mission Viejo, sleeping and eating facilities, chapels, hiking, riding, rifle range, and all the things kids can think-up to do. The total cost for the week is $49.

Truck Caravans have always been popular at the "Y". Hence, there will be three caravans available this summer. The first, August 26 - Sept. 1, also goes to Yosemite, but serves seventh through ninth grade boys. The last Caravan is for High School boys and girls, and goes up to the Big Sur area, August 18 - August 24. All Caravans travel by covered flatbed trucks. The price on all Caravans is $39, which includes all expenses.

For more information call Mr. Pierson at 837-5696, or stop by his house at 25792 Via Viento in Mission Viejo and pick-up brochures on the YMCA summer programs.

"Help-in" Planned

Everyone has heard of "sit-ins," "stand-ins," and "love-ins." So this summer in order to be considered in with the "in crowd," the Orange County Branch of the American Cancer Society is sponsoring a "Help-in" involving local teenagers.

The Help-in program has been set up so that teenagers can work with volunteers on local cancer control programs, according to Nathalie Panek, Executive Director of the local branch.

"These work programs are expected to offer teenagers a welcome break from the inactivity of the summer months while giving them the satisfaction that comes from helping others," she said.

This year's Help-in programs include opportunities to keep up and improve typing ability; to assist with the Movie Mobile; sort returned Crusade material; stamp and count education material.

"We are looking for mature young men to run the projector in our Movie Mobile at the County Fair July 16 to July 21. Our Movie Mobile, staffed by volunteers, will show cancer education films free of charge.

Youth groups with their leaders or individual teenagers interested in volunteering may contact the American Cancer Society's local office at 18356 East 4th Street, Tustin or call 838-0510.

A Mission Viejo pioneer and the Assistant Manager of the Mission Viejo Country Club, Martha Liotta, sees her friends and customers as "wonderful people."

The dynamic, red-headed mother of two is responsible for operation of the popular Mission Viejo Country Club Bar and Restaurant. In this capacity Martha directs the activities of about forty employees. Martha strives for good food and a relaxed atmosphere for people to eat and enjoy themselves in.

Mrs. Liotta, born in Iowa, moved to California at age four and grew up in the San Fernando Valley when it "was clean and beautiful before the smog and people." Following her graduation from high school and business college, Martha married and the young couple moved to Cleverville, Canada.

Martha reflects that living on the isolated splendor of the Canadian prairie on the 3,000 acre ranch of her parents was "a marvelous experience." Martha's grandfather was the founder and namesake of Cleverville which is in Alberta about 75 miles from Calgary in the heart of the Canadian wheat-growing belt.

Life in Canada was very interesting, with outside plumbing, drinking water brought from Calgary, and hunting for ducks and badgers, who would destroy the wheat fields if left alone, made for an unforgetable time. The pending birth of son Bob forced a return to California from Cleverville.

Martha and her family lived in the Central Valley of California for many years, but after the passing of her husband she moved to San Francisco and eventually to Southern California.

In 1962, Martha married Joe Liotta, a district supervisor for Harris and Frank Department Stores, and in August of 1966, they became the third family to move into Mission Viejo. Martha has two children: Bob, age 20 and Robyn, age 14.

The Liotta's live at 25611 Via Viento and Martha vividly remembers the early days in Mission Viejo. "At night it was always dark and the sky was full of stars; we had no curtains, no hot water, and very little privacy, but the open spaces and lack of congestion made up for it.

Martha Liotta joined the Mission Viejo Country Club in Jan. of 1967 when the club was in the earliest stages of construction as Secretary to the General Manager. Currently Martha serves as Assistant Manager in charge of the restaurant and bar.

For hundreds of Mission Viejo Country Club regulars, a visit to the popular Inn for lunch or dinner is never complete without a friendly hello and smile from the attractive Martha Liotta.

Mrs. Martha Liotta, the Assistant Manger of the Mission Viejo Country Club relaxes in one of the club's many golf arts while on a break from her busy job. Visitors to the popular restaurant and bar are frequently greeted personally by the attractive red-head.

University Park Youngsters Win Citizenship Awards

Lauren Mayer, fourth grade student at University Park Elementary School, speaking on the subject "The Challenge to Youth in Todays World" was judged winner of the "Modern Woodmen Civic Oration Contest."

Lauren is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Mayer, 17985 Mann St., Irvine. Second place went to Darlene Francisco, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Francisco, 17603 Queenswreath Way, Irvine.

Dr. Arnold Binder, Dr. Martin A. Treon, and Mr. Alfred Brandt Jr., prominent members of the community, judged the efforts of the final contestants who were chosen from preliminary competition. Wall plaques, suitably engraved, were presented to the winners by Mrs. Ruth Hayworth, P.T.A. program chairman.

Mel Packel, principal of University Park School, explained to the pupils and parents in the audience the purpose of the contest was to, "Stress the attributes of good citizenship in the minds of our pupils and to help them think and speak in public situations."

The other pupils who competed in the final contest were Cheryl Beasley, Walter Baranger, Victoria Knight, Timothy Johns and George Long. Each received a gold pin for their success in gaining entrance into the finals.

Cancer Drive End Urged By Leader

Movie star Richard Denning, honorary chairman of the 1968 Cancer Crusade for the Orange County Branch of the American Cancer Society, appealed to residents to help bring the Crusade to an early close.

"Passing the kits from one family to the next as quickly as possible will be of tremendous help to the ACS volunteers who are responsible for the kits. Following the map on the kit will assure every resident the opportunity of receiving cancer information and contributing to the crusade," he said.

When the kit reaches the final house on the map the resident is asked to call the person whose number is on the kit and a Crusade volunteer will call for the envelope and deliver it to the American Cancer Society.

Denning stated, "We are most grateful for the generous response that we have been receiving.

Saddleback Reveals Drafting Tech. Degree

One of Saddleback College's occupational programs commencing in September will be Drafting Technology, said Dr. Fred H. Bremer, dean of instruction.

It will be a two-year program leading to an Associate of Arts Degree, Dr. Bremer explained.

The first year the program will feature a broad introductory course including work with all the basic principles and tools of drafting and an introduction to the many areas of possible specialization in the drafting profession.

The second year the Saddlebaek program will instruct students in one or more areas, such as architectural drafting, civil-structural drafting or electro-mechanical drafting.

A work-experience program is planned for second year students to help them work into their profession with on-the-job training in cooperating industries within Saddleback district, Dr. Bremer said.

Division chairman for the instructional program is James Thorpe.

Saddleback College's Drafting Technology Program is open to students with no previous experience as well as those students who have had some drafting training.

Additional information is available at Saddleback College offices.

$335,000 Gifts To Chapman College

Three major gifts, totaling more than $335,000 which will benefit the building program and endowment fund at Chapman College have been announced by Dr. John L. Davis, president of the private liberal arts college.

A gift of $150,000 toward construction of the new science building has been made by Dr. and Mrs. Edward H. Hashinger of La Jolla; the Otis Building in Santa Ana has been given to the college by Mr. and Mrs. William Brad Hellis of that city; and a bequest from the estate of the late William A. Bartholomae of Balboa has been received.

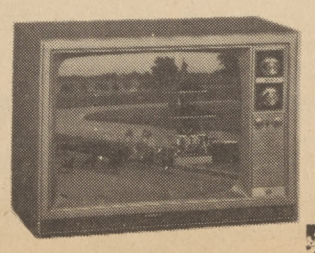

The gift from Dr. and Mrs. Hashinger will underwrite the cost of the 200-seat lecture hall, a major part of the new science building now under construction on the Chapman campus. Dr. Hashinger, who retired in 1958 after serving for 37 years on the medical school faculty at the University of Kansas, has been a trustee of Chapman College since 1962 and recently completed a three-year term as chairman of the Board of Trustees.

The Otis Building, given by Mr. and Mrs. Hellis, is a four-story office and commercial structure located at the northwest corner of Fourth and Main Streets in Santa Ana. Hellis, now retired, is a former general manager and vice president of The Irvine Company, and has been a member of the Chapman College Board of Governors, an adivsory council, since 1961.

The Bartholomae bequest was received in the form of cash and negotiable securities. Bartholomae, a longtime agriculturist in the Walnut area, was a member of Chapman's Board of Trustees from 1959 until his death in 1964.

A five member panel will respond to the speakers. Afternoon sessions will be devoted to workshops on various aspects of poverty, at which all participants may contribute ideas and experiences.

Among co-sponsoring groups are the American Society for Public Administration; the L.U.L.A.C. Neighborhood Youth Corps; League of Women Voters; Mexican-American Opportunities Foundation; Mexican-American Political Assn.; N.A.A.C.P.; Central Labor Council; Orange County Dental Society; Equal Opportunity Employers Assn.; Fair Housing Council; Management Council; Orange County Medical Assn.; Partners for Progress; Salvation Army; Santa Ana Community Co-ordinating Council; Santa Ana-Tustin Council of Churches and the Legal Aid Society.

"Our purpose will be to become more aware of the nature and extent of poverty in Orange County and of what individuals and groups are doing about it," says Dr. Richard N. Baisden, Extension director and conference chairman.

"This conference is to be a forum for knowledgeable people to exchange ideas and work together in developing new types of programs to fight poverty."

Nearly 20,000 county families or 11 percent of the population are living on incomes below $3,000 a year, said Dr. Baisden. An estimated 7800 families are living on less than $1,000 a year. A 1967 survey of county poverty pockets found more than 10 percent of the labor force unemployed and another 60 percent working at unskilled jobs. Less than 50 percent were high school graduates.

"Rather than rely on statistics, however, we invite everyone to walk through one of the partially-hidden poverty pockets," said Dr. Baisden.

"They are found in the Anaheim - Fullerton - Placentia area, in Santa Ana, Garden Grove, Fountain Valley, Cypress , Buena Park, Orange, Huntington Beach and San Clemente."
